DATA PROTECTION CONSENT FORM

Privacy Notice

The Yeovil Archaeological and Local History Society keeps members names, postal and E-mail addresses and telephone numbers in order to manage the Society's affairs. They are used to organize events, distribute publications and maintain the accounts. The Society will never share your details with any outside organization or individual and will make every endeavour to keep that data safe. The Society holds the data only with your consent and you may opt out of being contacted at any time, by alerting the Treasurer of your decision. Since membership of the Society is dependant on payment of an annual subscription, you will only be contacted and your data used, if you are a current member.
